

Compagnie Belge Materieles de Chemins de Fer La Croyere 1881

Reference:

MPD-007504
Description

Iron cattle wagon, exhibited Paris Exhibition, 1867

This original very heavy brass placque measures 10" high x 14" wide. In 1859, Charles Evrard purchased a company called Parmentier Freres et Cie that was based in La Croyere (La Louvier, Belgium). Merging with Ateliers Charles Evrard of Brussels to form the company named on this placque. At the Exposition Universelle of 1867 in Paris, the company exhibited a locomotive, passenger coaches and a steam rail crane among other things. This placque dated 1881 is the last one ever at La Croyere as in this year the plant in Brussels was closed and a new company was formed, in alliance with the French. A great companion piece for the 1937 Belgian Expo poster.

Main Image:

DetailsPeriod: 19th CENTURY
Category: Architectural

Condition: Great original condition

- Height: 10

- Width: 14

Dealer: Modernism Gallery

More InfoDesigner: Charles Evrard

Modernism Gallery