

Converted Gas-Electric Decorative Sheffield Chandelier.

Reference:

MPD-006794

Description

Circa. 1900 This is a lovely example of early lighting, when gas was still in use and electricity was still a commodity.

This Sheffield style body has six arms - three (former) gas facing upwards with 'candles'- and three electric arms facing down, wearing cut-crystals.

Restored to its original finish, this brass light is a bright gold. Cleaned, rewired, and restored, this turn-of-the-century light fixture is ready to hang. (Length can be adjusted upon request)
