Description
Gilbert Rohde (1894-1944) designed this bedside table in 1933 for the Herman Miller Furniture Company, Zeeland, Michigan. From the 3319 group, the bedside table is constructed of straight grained ash veneers and mahogany with brushed chrome pulls. The group was exhibited in the “Design for Living House” at the 1933 Chicago World’s fair. The table is 24” high, 14” wide and 11” deep. Of course, versatility is one of the great attributes of this design and this table can fit in any room.....makes a great sofa end table as well!
