Description

Restored mid century modern daybed sofa. Attributed to Adrian Pearsall for Craft Associates. Manufacturer's label has been lost to time. Updated with new gray blend upholstery. This sofa delights in so many ways. The two end tables are actually reversible! One side is original white laminate (Formica). Flip the table top to reveal a walnut wood veneer surface. This real walnut wood veneer is and upgrade fresh from the Furnish Me Vintage workshop, replacing the worn original walnut Formica. The contoured solid honey colored wood frame comes to a "V" shaped point at the front of the sofa. The rear is just as beautiful with a bent wood back brace that remains sturdy after half a century — a testament to Craft Associate's quality. Remove the back bolster cushions to create a single size bed. Ideal for live-work spaces, condos, studios and apartments. Convenient functionality with superior style. A showstopping marvel of American 20th Century design. Restored with new upholstery and new walnut wood veneer on table tops. Some minor scuffs and scratches on original wood frame. (15.5" seat height)
