Description

Extremely hard to find, large commercial size Art Deco streamline design chandelier. Circa 1940

While it is hard to imagine the size of this wonderful chandelier at 27" in diameter, I would suggest getting a measuring tape and simply looking at the wonderful diameter of this difficult to find bowl chandelier. The light is made from 'spun' aluminum and knowing how large the spinning lathe had to be to create this piece, simply can boggle the mind.

Lovely Streamline Art Deco. While the diameter of the bowl is 27", the overall height is 55". Best of all...we have multiples of this light. At this time, we have 7 of these great chandeliers. So if you are doing a commercial project and need multiple chandeliers, here is a rare opportunity to complete your project with original antiques.

Electrical: Rewired with porcelain mogul sockets (that old floor lamp big socket) and currently will be supplied with a 300 watt incandescent bulb. However, the socket can definitely handle a much bigger bulb if more light is required.
