This chandelier really makes a statement! A 1930's American Art Deco Chandelier from a Midwest movie theatre. The lower portion has black and white glass in a geometric design. A nickel banded center section has alternating square geometric plaques and round opalescent roundels. Above the band are six black metal spirals, each with a nickel decoration on the top. The fixture takes six lights (up to 100 watts each) and has been rewired. It is in immaculate condition. The chandelier is 30" in diameter and drops 30" from the ceiling.
