

1950's Yasha Heifetz Rotoflex 3 Light Flush Mount Fixture

Reference:

MPD-000951

Description

Yasha Heifetz is best known for being the manufacturer of the 10 important lamps designed for the Museum of Modern Art lighting design competition of 1950. The Rotoflex designs are created in plastic and have great colors. These are perfect in today's modern clean designs. The fixture measures 39 inches across and has a drop of 26 inches to the lowest pendant.
